INFORMATION FOR DISTRIBUTORS

MAY 2017

Dear Friends,

no beating around the bush today, so let's get right down to it with May's new items, the ‚meat n' potatoes' of today's newsletter. With what's being readied for May, I would expect that this will be the best month yet in terms of kit sales. It's not that accessory development is slow. In fact, new accessory items are being also readied for kits from around the world, but it's more a question of the types of the new kits that are being released in May.

Two 1/72nd scale kits are being released, the Fw 190A-8/R2 Profipack kit, with five marking options that are striking both in terms of their appearance and their service use. Among the most popular of all aircraft in history is the Sturmbock, also known as, inaccurately, the Rammjäger. The Fw 190A is also one of the most successful of all Eduard kits, so what more could we ask for? The new Sturmbock, on top of everything else, has been endowed with incredible boxart, that looks great on the Slim 7 type box, similar to those of the 48th scale kits but thinner.

The Hellcat in the same scale has variously been described as our best 72nd scale kit, something I don't completely agree with, but, on the other hand, am not bothered by at all. In May, we will release the F6F-3 as a Weekend Edition kit. The remaining two kits are both in 1/48th. Our most recent release, the SE.5a has been available now for two weeks with the Wolseley Viper engine. May's Royal Class will include two full kits, while twelve marking options will cover the Viper engined variant as well as the version powered by the Hispano-Suiza, as well as an option for a night fighter. Decals are supplied by Cartograf, and the package includes the standard masks and photoetched brass, and also in this case, Brassin accessories. As an added bonus, there is a pocket bottle bearing an emblem design. I saved the Crusader to finish off the paragraph describing new kit releases. This Limited Edition item is simply dubbed ‚CRUSADER', and contains the Vought F-8E Crusader by Hasegawa, decals provided by Cartograf, masks and photoetched and Brassin accessories. The decal sheet design and profiles are the work of Furball Aerodesign, as has become the standard norm for our American subjects in this line. The Crusader will have a production run of 3,000 kits, and I personally expect that this item will command much attention.

Accessory items for the month are first and foremost designed for our kits just being released. So, among photoetched brass items, you'll note set number 48925 F-8E Upgrade Set, and Brassins covering the Crusader and the SE.5a. Photoetched brass and masks for the Fw 190A-8 and the F6F-3 have been around for some time now, but May sees the release of stencil data decals for the F6F Hellcat in 1/72 under the catalogue number D72014. Among the photoetched items, there are also sets designed for the H8K2 Emily from Hasegawa (1/72), released over five sets and one Zoom offering. No masks are being released, since they are a part of the original kit. This does not apply for the second 1/72nd scale kit being targeted this month, that being Trumpeter's MiG-29UB. We are releasing the standard full set, masks and a Zoom. Similar items are being released for Zvezda's Bf 109G-6 and Kitty Hawk's Su-17M3/M4 in 1/48th, as well as Italeri's 1/32nd Mirage IIIE/R. Above and beyond photoetched parts, we are releasing masks for the Su-25UB/UBK in 1/48 (Směr/ex-OEZ) and a somewhat unique item, anti-glare panels for the B-17G in 1/72nd, designed for the Airfix kit, and to keep things from becoming boring, only for aircraft built by Boeing and Douglas. In May, we will begin releasing sets for the HMS HOOD in 1/200 (Trumpeter), and we will begin with the first two sets from final eight. I would also like to point out the Big Ed sets being released, and of course, the BIG Sin set for the Bf 109F in 1/48th, in this case designed for our release of the kit. And, with that, we come to the Brassin line that offers, besides the aforementioned F-8E and SE.5a sets, a cockpit for the Spitfire Mk.VIII (Eduard), two sets for the still-new Tamiya Ki-61 in 1/48th, and three weapons kits covering the Sniper ATP, TER and MER in 1/32nd scale. If you are not familiar with the differences between the TER and the MER, I recommend looking these items up. They will most certainly generate a lot of retail traffic.

That's all I will say about the new releases for now. Further information may be gleaned from this newsletter. We would be grateful if you could get in your May item orders to us by April 1, 2017 at the latest. All the May releases will be available in our stock on April 15th, 2017. Let me just add that April releases are available right now ready for dispatching.

I wish you a pleasant read of today's newsletter, and much success in your business endeavours.
